Brantford occupies a good deal of attention in the last Dominion Illustrated. The view of the Brant Memorial is of more than local interest, as there is no Canadian, no citizen of the Empire, who should not take pride in his bravery and loyalty. EDMONTON BULLETIN, DEC. 21, 1889.

MORMONS IN CANADA.

That the Mormons are thrifty and industrious, is proven by the manner in which they have made their desert around Salt Lake into a garden, and the success of their operations on a large scale only verifies their previous good reputation as frugal intelligent and industrious; and in this respect the Mormons are the only people who would be so desirous to develop the resources of the West. Notwithstanding this we can do better without them than with them, if they introduce into our country their polygamous practices, the persistence in which has been the cause of so many of the evils of the United States. It is not a question as to whether they will not do in Canada what they persisted in doing, despite the efforts of the United States authorities, on the one side of the line. Will a change of latitude be sufficient to change their habits and beliefs? are they coming to this country to escape, what they claim was persecution from the one they are leaving, without causing those practices, that were the cause of these so called persecutions, and the cause of their coming to this country, and thus ensuring their own ruin?

and the trials of years of hard labor. Emigration and settlement in a new country is not the easiest thing a man can do. It means, in the majority of cases, privations and the absence of many of the comforts of home, where the wife and children can tell of the beautiful homes and of the affluence of many of the Mormon leaders. Now to your mind it is not reasonable to suppose that these people are leaving all this for the hardships of a new country, and for the chance of being poor and penniless in a new land, where the women are abandoning here, they would be permitted to possess their homes and wealth in peace and quietness. It may be that these already here are not polygamists as many of the Latter Day Saints do not believe in a plurality of wives, although rumors are frequent from some of the colony of Lee's great-grandchildren living with more than one wife. But even if there are not any there now, the practice will certainly be introduced with those who will follow this vanguard. It seems there is no direct law on our statute books forbidding polygamy and if it is so then the sooner the colony of Lee's great-grandchildren, the better position the authorities will be in to prevent the introduction of this Mormon inquiry into our land. If these people intend abandoning polygamy they will be welcome to the broad and fertile plains of the West, where they can find a new home to repeat here, what has made them the Ishmaelites, against whom every respectable man and pure woman's hand in the States is raised, action cannot be too promptly and energetically taken to stamp out now, that which if left alone may in the future be a curse to the nation and a blot on the name of every true man and virtuous woman in Canada.

Among the questions of foreign interest which will come before the United States senate, during the present session of congress will be the fisheries and seal questions; also the proposed scheme to promote commercial union with Canada, with a view to ultimate annexation, the settlement of the Alaskan and Mexican borders, and the declaration of the sense of the United States with respect to foreign control of inter-oceanic canals on the American continent. The fisheries questions, with the exception, probably of the last, are intimately connected with Canadian interests, and the latter having reference to the Panama canal will be of interest to England, owing to the fact of Great Britain controlling to a large extent trans oceanic fisheries. The fisheries and seal questions are settled the better for Canada and also for the future peace of both the United States and England. The utterly unjustifiable depredations made on Canadian vessels by the American cruiser in Behring sea last season have caused so much irritation and a just repetition of it would undoubtedly result in serious complications. Canadian vessels engaging in seal fishing next season will most likely go armed, and defend their rights, unless some satisfactory settlement is reached by the governments interested. If it is not settled and the incident of this year repeated, there will either be a war or a loss of respect for either Canada or her Canadian colonies. With respect to the question of commercial union with Canada, with a view to annexation it is very doubtful if the annexation party in Canada is strong enough, in face of the present declaration of the United States, any highway against the national sentiment, that is growing so rapidly among the younger generation of Canadians. The prevalent idea is not annexation or imperial federation but Canadian independence. The dream of Canada as the next best thing coming after the United States, and destroyed by any plan, that is, for commercial union, which the outcome so openly expressed is annexation to the United States.

The Ontario Crop Bulletin for October reports fall wheat as inferior in quality and averaging about 16 bushels per acre. Spring wheat is a pretty fair crop and slightly better than fall wheat in quality. Barley is fair crop and oats the best of all both having suffered from smut and rust.

This district has two wants, and both are vital to its growth. It wants a railroad, and it wants settlers. The first is coming, and will come, and with it will come the settlers to fill up the country and turn the vacant lands into sources of profit and revenue. At the present time many letters are being received from people who intend moving west, asking about the fertility, natural resources, and climate of the country. The country is being attracted to the Edmonton district. But with many of them the long journey of two hundred miles from the nearest railway point at Calgary, to here is more than their imaginations can stand, and they locate themselves along the line, or go to other United States, where the distance is shorter. Our agents are no doubt useful in advertising the country and inducing people to come in, but the best agents are those already here, who having made a success of farming themselves, can recommend the country to their friends. They can give the most reliable information, by personal experience. Times at the present time are no doubt dull, as they usually are during the winter season, but notwithstanding this, now is the time for intending settlers to come in. Homesteads are being located, and the distance from the distance of the town, and it will take some time to break the sod and raise a crop, erect buildings, and do the many things required to be done before any return from the land can be expected. The building of the railroad will, in all likelihood, be here and they will then be in a better position to take advantage of the low prices that always accompany the incoming of the railroad into the country. This they will miss if they wait until a line is built here besides the difficulty of getting the land, and the fact that the lands which will be soon taken up by the rush of emigrants will be lost. Many of our agents are now perfecting themselves in farming with improvements, and are making more immediate returns on which to live, until they could get their own land in the country. They are also making money on the advent of a railroad, whereas now no difficulty would be experienced in raising or selling stock, and in getting machinery and machinery. If those who are in receipt of letters of enquiry from friends or others, will send them to the agent who will advise them to come early next spring.

CANADA'S MINERAL WEALTH.

It is reported from Ottawa that the government has decided to abolish the duty on mining machinery. This will be good news to those interested in the mining industry. It is claimed that Canada possesses greater undeveloped mineral wealth than any country in the world. When we think of the vastness of the territory included in the Dominion of Canada, covering half a continent, and spreading over about 3,500,000 square miles of largely undeveloped territory, one will be inclined to admit the probability of the assertion, almost without inquiring into the mineral resources of the country, when it is considered that immense stretches of this vast region are known as mineral territories, and that more or less mineral wealth is found in almost every portion of Canada, the truth of this assertion can hardly be doubted.

Commencing with the lower provinces, Nova Scotia, including Cape Breton, is known to be rich in gold, iron, copper, and vast coal fields, etc. New Brunswick has mines of coal, iron, lead, asphalt, and other coarser minerals. Quebec has copper, lead, iron, valuable phosphate mines, gold, etc. The great province of Ontario, covers an area of nearly 300,000 square miles, a large portion of which is considered chiefly valuable for its mineral resources, especially in the western and northwestern portion of the province. The principal minerals of Ontario are gold, silver, copper, iron, petroleum, salt, phosphate, lead, gypsum and a long list of less valuable minerals. In silver, copper and iron Ontario is especially rich. The great Lake Superior territory of the province has been famous for its wealth in those minerals for years, but development has not been in keeping with the resources of the country. A number of silver mines are working in the Thunder Bay territory, but the ore from these mines is sent from one to two thousand miles for a smelting which entails a heavy expense, and prevents the utilizing of lower grade ores. A smelter would prove a capital investment in this district. Westward there is the Lake of the Woods district claimed to be rich in gold and other minerals. Even the prairie divisions of Canada have their minerals. Manitoba has coal in the southwest, and vast deposits of the finest iron ore in the Lake Winnipeg region, salt in different sections, indications of petroleum, lime and other stone, etc. The coal fields of the territories west of Manitoba are perhaps the most extensive in the world. The exact boundaries of these western coal beds are not known, but the outcroppings occur hundreds of miles apart. Vast beds of petroleum exist in the north, and further discoveries have recently been reported from southwestern Alberta. Gold is found in streams flowing eastward from the Rocky Mountains. There is a vast territory yet largely unknown, stretching across the continent to the north of the settled portions, which may yet show great mineral wealth. Lastly, there is the province of British Columbia, with the area of nearly 350,000 square miles, which may be considered all a mineral territory and were almost every thing in the mineral line may be found, though hardly anything outside of the coal mines of Vancouver Island and the placer gold deposits of the interior have been developed to any extent. The iron deposits of Texada Island have been worked to some extent, but the ore is carried to the State of Washington for reduction. British Columbia has coal, iron, gold, silver, lead, copper, mercury, platinum, antimony, plumbago, mica, and numerous other minerals in abundance, awaiting development.

Every encouragement should be given to the development of this great heritage, for only through development can it become the source of wealth to the country which it should be. The tax upon mining machinery can therefore be well dispensed with. Winnipeg Commercial.

Messrs. Douglas and Geo. Murdoch are candidates for the majority of Calgary for 1890.

Mr. Robert Blackburn, of Ottawa, has disposed of his phosphate mine in the township of Tasean for $150,000 to an English syndicate.

According to the latest United States postal report, the deficit for the year ending June 1890 was $7,000,000. The postmaster general suggests following the British and Canadian plan of post office savings banks.

The lumber cut on Lake Winnipeg this season is placed at 5,700,000 feet; about 2,000,000 feet less than last year. It is expected that the number of logs taken out this winter will be in excess of last season's cut.

Canadian rancho cattle have been singularly unfortunate in striking a dull trade in England this fall. The Montreal prices, if accepted, would have cleared the rancho companies of loss, but a loss of from $10 to $15 per head is the result of shipment. The cause is the limit of consumptive capacity having been reached in the old country.

The government of Hungary, have already in operation a scheme for buying up taverns and turning them into school houses. The government buys up the places for a valuation fixed by a commission and then suppresses them. It is a bold and interesting experiment in social science.

Changes are in contemplation regarding the manner of shipping four per cent. beer into the territories. The department of inland revenue, whilst willing to assist the Territorial authorities as far as consistent with business principles has declined to assume any responsibility arising from abuses caused by dishonest dealers. In future the department will analyze any samples presented for that purpose, and will give a certificate as to the strength of the sample. The difficulty of stamps and other work incidental to its shipment into the Territories will be done by the Territorial authorities.
